of R. A. Buckner, and J. T. Boyle, for they are, in every respect, clever and accomplished gentlemen. But, as candidates for Congress, we are plain to say that we can vote for neither. Buckner is running in the interest we fear, giving this district over to the rebels, by dividing the Union vote. Under other circumstances, we would have been proud to cast a vote for Boyle. We should have been proud to honor the man who was among the first to declare for the Union, and to manifest his principles by joining the army. But the circumstances under which he appears, necessarily precludes the idea of our giving him any support in his reckless disregard of the interests of the Union party of this disrict. He ought to be more magnanimous towards the party who think so highly of him. What excuse can he give for his conduct? Is his ambition for office so great cession sympathizer?

Does he suppose that his election will justify the great risk which is being run, not only to the party in the district, but the party throughout the State?

We hope Gen. B. will reconsider his action, and withdraw from a contest which must necessarily bring ruin and defeat to the Union party. Mr. Clay was fairly nominated-all the counties but two were represented, and that too by the same men who nominated Mr. Crittenden-and it is to be hoped that he will be voted for by all the friends of the deceased sage and statesman.

Clay is the nominee of the Convention .-The party are, in honor, bound to his support. Let no one prove recreant to his duty. Let the party vote for its chosen candidate. and let no reckless feeling control. The act is a most solemn one, and let every voter discharge his duty, his whole duty, and nothing but his duty.

Speeches were made by Gen. S. S. Fry, Lt. Col. C. S. Hanson, and Gen. J. B. Huston. I have no time to give you anything like a synopsis of their speeches. Suffice it to say, they were characterized by soundness, eloquence, and fitness for the occasion. Gen. Fry's speech reflected much credit upon him as a brilliant orator, as well as a distinguished General. He is the right man in the right place. He has all the elements of the Kentucky hero. Secession and its sympathizers have nothing to hope for from him-He is well acquainted with all their treasonable traits, and he has the nerve and the resolution to hold them to a strict ascountability for their nefarious conduct. Whereas, the State of Kentucky is invaded by a rebel force, with the avowed intention of over-awing the Judges of Elecing from the polls, and forcing the election of disloyal candidates, at the election on the 3d of August; and whereas, the military power of the Government is the only force that can defeat this attempt, the State of Kentucky is hereby declared under martial law. and all military Officers are commanded to aid the constituted authorities of the State in the support of the laws, and of the purity of suffrage, as defined in the late Proclamapassed between Big Hill and Richmond on tion of His Excellency, Governor Robinson.

To the Voters of the 7th Congressional District.

In accepting the nomination by the Union Convention as candidate for Congress in the Ashland District, in place of the lamented Mr. Crittenden, it may be proper that I should make a short staement of my polit ical principles in regard to the present crisis.

I am, and always have been for the preervation of the Constitution and the Union, and for the vigorous prosecution of the war to subdue the Rebellion, which threatens sure you vote for the Union Democratic State their overthrow. If elected I will vote for the necessary measures to carry on the war to the extent of the national power and resources. were passed, condemning those measures. But I do not regard Revolution, or Secesion, or a submission to the Rebellion, as the remedies for that evil policy, they being and the talk about negro equality with white evils incomparably greater. The remedies are in the Union, and under the Constitution and laws, through the Legislatures and Judicial Tribunals. Should the Union be restored, it would be for the courts of the slave-States to decide upon the legal effects of the President's Proclamation of Emancipation. Until the union shall be restored, the ebels, while depredating upon the commerce fthe loyal citizens, on the Ocean, and upon the property of the citizens of Kentucky, Missouri, and other loyal states, in their predatory raids, cannot rightfully complain that their property in slaves is not respected was our duty to fight the rebellion; it was more than other property, by the armies of he greatest danger, and it was right in our the Union. I am not and have never been n favor of emancipation, either gradual, mmediate, or compensated.

May fling o'er its brightness a stain; tate the resumption of all their rights and privileges under the Constitution.

In the short period before the election, it will be impossible for me to visit the various Counties in the District, or to see but few o the voters; but it time allowed it would afford me pleasure to defend and systain my position before you in public discussion. As this cannot take place, I thought it better that you should fully and fairly understand my principles, than the argument and reasons
